

Dreaming Our Way Through Times Of Great Change

So many of us long for clear guidance for our lives, especially in turbulent times such as we live in now. Dreams provide a never-ending stream of just what we need. When the sun goes down, we can see the stars. And when the conscious mind goes to sleep, we can receive the subtler guidance and blessings from other aspects of our beings and from other realms of wisdom.

And so also with the Oracles. If we allow their images and symbols to speak to us directly and set aside the critical mind for awhile, wonderful and often surprising wisdom and insight come to us.

In this retreat, we will explore dreams together; each dream told becomes a dream in the mind and heart of each participant, and we all benefit from the work. We will interweave this work with enrichment from the Tarot and the I Ching.
